DETAILED ACTION

Specification

1. The abstract is objected since it exceeds 150 words.

Applicant is reminded of the proper language and format for an abstract of the disclosure.

The abstract should be in narrative form and generally limited to a single paragraph on a separate sheet within the range of 50 to 150 words. It is important that the abstract not exceed 150 words in length since the space provided for the abstract on the computer tape used by the printer is limited. The form and legal phraseology often used in patent claims, such as "means" and "said," should be avoided. The abstract should describe the disclosure sufficiently to assist readers in deciding whether there is a need for consulting the full patent text for details.

The language should be clear and concise and should not repeat information given in the title. It should avoid using phrases which can be implied, such as, "The disclosure concerns," "The disclosure defined by this invention," "The disclosure describes," etc.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claims 1, 5-9, 11-15, 17, 21-25, 27-29, 33-37, and 39-40 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Herrendoerfer et al ("Herrendoerfer", USP 6481621).

Regarding claims 1, 17, and 29, Herrendoerfer teaches a portable device which has a body (smart cart 130), a memory containing software for executing on a host computing device 118; an interface to facilitate interaction with the host computing device (col 1, lines 50-52); and the software adapted to automatically execute on the host computing device in association with a computing session and provide an interface frame associated with the portable device on a display of the host computing device (col 3, lines 4-11).

Regarding claims 5-6, 21-22, and 33-34, Herrendoerfer teaches the providing a link to a web site associated with the provider of the portable device on the interface frame (col 4, lines 55-57).

Regarding claims 7-8, 23-24, and 35-36, Herrendoerfer teaches the display the web content in the interface frame (col 5, lines 29-32).

Regarding claims 9, 25, and 37, Herrendoerfer teaches the markup language content (col 5, lines 21-24).

Regarding claims 11, 27, and 39, Herrendoerfer teaches the authentication routine (col 5, lines 34-36).

Regarding claims 12, 28, and 40, Herrendoerfer teaches the pushing web content (col 4, lines 55-58).

Regarding claims 13-14, Herrendoerfer teaches the emulating and adapting as a file system (col 4, lines 3-8).

Regarding claim 15, Herrendoerfer teaches the interface is adapted to directly interface a port (col 4, lines 64-65).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 2-4, 18-20, and 30-32 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Herrendoerfer and Suga et al ("Suga", USP 5497455).

Regarding claims 2, 18, and 30, Herrendoerfer does not teach the displaying icon on the interface frame. However, such feature is known in the art as taught by Suga. Suga teaches a portable computer which has a task selection menu which comprises the displaying an icon, which when selected, the software will execute the corresponding function on the host computing device (col 2, lines 26-31). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art, having the teaching of Herrendoerfer and Suga before him at the time the invention was made, to modify the portable device taught by Herrendoerfer to include the icon display taught by Suga with the motivation being to help user to easily and quickly access functions.

Regarding claims 3-4, 19-20, and 31-32, Suga teaches the display a menu icons corresponding to a menu of function icons (Fig. 4).

6. Claim 16 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Herrendoerfer and Yee et al ("Yee", USP 5781723).

Regarding claim 16, Herrendoerfer does not teach a wireless interface. However, such feature is known in the art as taught by Yee. Yee teaches a system for self-identifying a portable information device which comprises the wireless interface (col 4, lines 1-3). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art, having the teaching of Herrendoerfer and Yee before him at the time the invention was made, to modify the portable device taught by Herrendoerfer to include the wireless interface taught by Yee with the motivation being to enhance the portability of the system.

7. Claims 10, 26, and 38 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Herrendoerfer and Zubeldia ("Zubeldia", USP 6397224).

Regarding claims 10, 26, and 38, Herrendoerfer does not teach the remove records to enhance privacy. However, such feature is known in the art as taught by Zubeldia. Zubeldia teaches a system for linking a plurality of data records which comprises the record removal (col 1, lines 32-34). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art, having the teaching of Herrendoerfer and Zubeldia before him at the time the invention was made, to modify the portable device taught by Herrendoerfer to include the record removal taught by Zubeldia with the motivation being to increase the protection of user's privacy.
